Dear Colorado State Employee,

Each and every day, Colorado state government employees pave the way for our state to be one of the very best places to live, work, and play.

For example, May 31, 2017, was a typical day on I-25 and Belleview until a fuel tanker caught fire, making one of the busiest stretches of highway in the state impassable. By 5 a.m. the next day the road was open to commuters, far ahead of the schedule many had anticipated. For CDOT workers this may have seemed like just another day at the office, but for those they serve it was nothing short of a miracle.

In addition to serving their fellow Coloradans through their daily work, state employees are also among the strongest supporters of our state’s dynamic nonprofit community. Since 1988, they have given nearly $33 million to hundreds of groups representing important causes and every corner of the state. The Colorado Combined Campaign, our annual workplace giving program, has evolved into a charitable institution upon which many in our communities depend and all of us, as state employees, can be proud.

I hope you’ll join me and your many colleagues in making a donation to the CCC this year. Your gift of whatever size is both very much needed and much appreciated. Thank you again for everything you do to make Colorado great!

Sincerely yours,

John W. Hickenlooper
Governor

Dear colleague,

As state employees, we are fortunate to have an easy, efficient and empowering way to donate to our communities—through our workplace giving campaign, the Colorado Combined Campaign.

The CCC puts you in charge of your giving. You can choose from more than 600 nonprofits that represent 23 cause areas and every corner of the state. You also decide how to give. The vast majority of employees give through payroll contribution, a few dollars each pay period. This makes workplace giving one of the most popular and personally satisfying ways to give. Everyone can be a philanthropist.

There is no minimum donation, and signing up is simple, either with a paper form or online. If you gave online last year you can quickly renew your pledge by simply following the new prompts. When our many thousands of donors come together to give, there’s great strength. It keeps administrative costs low, both for the campaign and the recipient charities.

As Winston Churchill said, “We make a living by what we get. We make a life by what we give.” I encourage you to donate to this important campaign and help show why state employees are among the most giving, caring and sharing of Coloradans!

Sincerely yours,

June Taylor
Executive Director, Department of Personnel and Administration
Honorary Chair – 2017 Colorado Combined Campaign
What’s new this year?

It’s easier than ever to participate
We’re proud to announce some great new ways to give. Want to donate but don’t have a favorite charity? No problem. Choose the CCC Charities Fund (code number 99999). Your gift will be distributed proportionately to all nonprofits in the campaign. Want to simply (and quickly) renew your 2016 pledge? Online givers can now do this at the prompt when they sign in at www.ipledgeonline.org/_coloradocombinedcampaign. Can’t put down your mobile device? Then you’ll love pledging online by scanning our QR code (see either the front or the back of this guide). Still like to donate via paper? Just fill out the pledge form on the back of this guide, tear it off and give it to your department’s Lead Coordinator.

Retire from work, not from giving
Many retiring (and retired) state employees have asked for a way to continue participating in the CCC. We hear you and appreciate your continued generosity! Sign up online at www.ipledgeonline.org/_coloradocombinedcampaign by locating your “division” (department name) and then “retired.” Pick a payment method other than payroll contribution (such as a one-time or recurring credit/debit or e-check donation) and you’re good to go. Be sure to include your email address so we can stay in touch and let you know when the new annual campaign begins!

Welcome new CCC organizations
Nonprofits across Colorado want to be CCC-designated charities because of the campaign’s strength and longevity, and the generosity of state employees. Annually, hundreds of groups apply. Here are new organizations we’re excited to welcome for the 2017–2018 campaign.

How to use this guide

This guide contains information about all of the nonprofits (close to 600) that are eligible for funding through the 2017-2018 campaign. They are organized by cause area (starting on page 5) and alphabetically with page references (page 12), as well as by the giving federation that represents them in the campaign (page 19). (Within this section, you can also find state college and university foundations, and state service organizations-nonprofits who work with state agencies to address societal concerns.) The best way to look for groups by geography is to search the giving federation listings. The CCC partners with United Way organizations across the state (12 of them) to ensure that your donation goes to the local nonprofit you have designated.

What is the Colorado Combined Campaign?

The Colorado Combined Campaign (CCC) is the annual charitable workplace giving campaign of Colorado state government employees. The state established the campaign in 1987 as a beneficial way for employees to easily and efficiently donate to a wide array of nonprofits and support their communities.

How does donating through the CCC work?
As a state employee, you are in charge of your giving. Each year, you can choose from around 600 Colorado nonprofits that represent 23 different causes and every corner of the state. You can also decide how to give. Most employees give through payroll contribution (a few dollars each pay period), a longstanding tradition. But you can also make a recurring donation with a credit/debit card or bank payment, or a one-time donation with cash, check or credit/debit card. There is no minimum donation. Signing up is easy, either online or with a paper form. However you participate, you’re a part of a culture of giving that helps our state be even better.

What’s the advantage of workplace giving?
Workplace giving has traditionally been one of the most popular ways for people to give. Because you give incrementally and automatically, you can give more than you might ordinarily be able to. It’s empowering. Also, the strength of many donors coming together to give keeps administrative costs low, both for the campaign and for the recipient charities.

How much has the CCC raised over time?
Since 1987, the CCC has raised nearly $33 million. In 2016, state employees made more than 6,000 donations totaling nearly $939,000. The average donation was $338.18, or about $30 per paycheck.

Who runs the CCC?
The CCC is overseen by state employees, for the benefit of state employees. An Advisory Committee of employee volunteers from across state government meets each month to set policy, approve plans and budgets, and evaluate participating nonprofits. Look elsewhere in this guide for our current Advisory Committee officers and members. The CCC is an independent, audited nonprofit organization registered with the Colorado Secretary of State. It is managed by Community Shares of Colorado, an expert in workplace giving campaigns.

CCC FAQs

What is the benefit of making a designated donation through the Colorado Combined Campaign instead of giving directly to my favorite charity?
The Colorado Combined Campaign (CCC) enables you to donate directly out of your paycheck, in whatever amount you like. This automatic, incremental giving allows most people to give more overall. (This is why donors like the CCC.) Additionally, nonprofits can keep their administrative costs lower if they are processing a single, large payment from the CCC versus multiple, smaller payments from individual donors. Your contribution through the CCC has a greater impact when it’s combined with the generosity of your coworkers. (This is why nonprofits like the CCC.)

Is my donation tax deductible?
Yes. Every agency listed in this resource guide is recognized by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) as a 501(c)(3) nonprofit. Therefore, donations to these groups are eligible for tax deduction on your annual income tax form. You will need to retain a copy of your pledge form and (if giving through payroll contribution) a copy of your final pay stub showing the total amount withheld during the calendar year in order to claim your deduction. CCC donations are post-tax, per IRS guidelines.

Why are only some Colorado nonprofits listed in the campaign Resource Guide?
The roughly 600 nonprofits listed have applied to be part of the CCC and have undergone a rigorous vetting process. The CCC Advisory Committee (composed of state employees) reviews all applications and makes acceptance decisions based on compliance with CCC bylaws. The campaign welcomes new nonprofits every year. Nonprofits interested in applying may contact the CCC to learn more. CCC bylaws, nonprofit criteria and application forms may be found online at www.coloradocombinedcampaign.org.

How can I be sure that my donation goes to the nonprofit I support?
When you designate your gift, your contribution (less the CCC campaign expense), will go to the nonprofit(s) of your choice. You may request that your charity send you a letter of acknowledgment. You may also choose to remain anonymous, in which case your information will be not shared with anyone aside from CCC staff.

What is the CCC campaign expense?
The expense of running the campaign is 15% or less of the campaign total. This covers essentials like computer software, accounting, auditing, printing, office space and staffing. The remaining 85% of your donation goes to the charity (or charities) of your choice. The CCC Advisory Committee approves the annual budget and monitors expenses each month. Workplace giving like the CCC is a popular and enduring way to give. It’s actually very cost effective when compared to other methods of nonprofit fundraising such as grant writing, events and direct mail (which can have average costs of 20%, 50% and 100%, respectively).

If I currently give through payroll deduction, do I have to sign up again when there’s a new campaign?
Yes, you do. Participation in the CCC is voluntary. Therefore, no one assumes because you gave one year that you’ll give the next. You must sign up again, either online or with a paper pledge form. It’s easy, though, to replicate your online pledge from year to year. Just look for the prompt when you visit your account at www.ipledgeonline.org/coloradocombinedcampaign.

Why should I support a campaign that includes organizations that I don’t like?
State employees have diverse interests when it comes to charitable giving. By supporting hundreds of nonprofits, the CCC ensures that all employees are able to give to causes that they find personally meaningful. Because of the structure of the campaign, your donation supports your organization(s), the one(s) you have designated.
